Likewise, the Entrepreneurship Development Institute of India (EDII) takes a holistic perspective with very impressive results. Located near Ahmedabad, in Gujarat, the EDII promotes independent thinking, creativity, and a spirit of innovation. Its Rural Entrepreneurship Development division promotes micro-enterprise and provides micro-credit. The EDII sponsors research, provides education and training — including its own educational video series — and publishes an academic journal on entrepreneurship. Perhaps the most unique contribution of the EDII is its summer camp, an entrepreneurial adventure for youth to learn achievement, a concern for excellence, creativity, innovation, leadership, problem solving, and systemic planning.
